

Intuitive Reading

1/17/18

By Sarah Asia

Laughinggoddess.com

sarahasia@laughinggoddess.com

Hello Brother!

This is what your Guides wanted you to hear today. I'm going to relay this as purely as possible, without trying to make it make sense, especially to me. Here's what they say:

Current Situation

You are being called to Trust right now.

You have pulled back your bow, aimed, and released.

You no longer have control of where the arrow lands, nor do you need to. Nor would you want that if you did. You may think the arrow needs to veer this way or that to land on-target, but you do not know. Source knows.

Now is a time to Trust your careful aim, and all your hard work, and know that Source has and will respond accordingly.

Your Guides would like to call your attention to some attachments to the past and to the future, clinging as a form of desperation, however unconscious, however subtly expressed. There is an identity flavored by death/failure, which has created a perception of self-limitation. This self-identity is being expressed now in the form of discontent in the present that leads to obsessive focus on both the past and the future, at the expense of your now, as well as the now you share with others. At times, you may appear as an empty shell, blank, void, but this is only the exterior facade. Inside, there are hungry ghosts relentlessly swarming.

You may feel consumed, or near consumed in this constant swirling of rhythmic chaos inside you.

Rhythmic is an important quality to tap into here, because it has come to feel like being rocked to you, in a way, like a mother rocks her baby. In that this rhythm is so familiar, it comforts you...even while it distorts you.

Before I dip into the medicine bag, your Guides want me to relay one more thing. It seems kinda random, but here it is: You are like a cactus. Worry not of damage or fragility. You are a nuanced vessel, tender, vulnerable, but you are tough like a cactus. You have everything you need to weather this drought, and you will come out thick and juicy when the rains finally come. ;)

There is also the implication that there is a need to Trust in the karmic bonds that are playing out in your current romantic partnership. There is need to TRUST in this shared journey, to lean into it, even--even the discomfort. Especially the discomfort. You are being encouraged to step into your Power by leaning into that which discomforts you and staying in your Power through it. This is not the time to hide, avoid, be passive, placate, or be disingenuous on any level. You are being called to be authentic and compassionate, to all parties, including yourself.

Your Medicine

Your Medicine is to PAY ATTENTION!

You are being encouraged to cultivate a practice of Surrender.

Your Guides are urging you to tap in now! Tune into your inner self and your outer world as an expression of that inner self. Now is time to Listen.

There will be signs all around you, synchronicities. You are being whispered into, Guided toward your next best actions. Like the Trust you must find in the path of the arrow you have already launched, you must now understand that the path to follow that arrow will be paved in synchronicity. Let go of plans, expectations, limitations, beliefs, fears. LISTEN AND HEED. This will lead you to your "pot of gold."

Let me know how this Medicine tastes:

On Facebook @TheLaughingGoddess

By email sarhasia@laughinggoddess.com

Wanna get to know Laughing Goddess?

Zoom to the home page.

Schedule a free phone consultation here.

And don't forget to join the Facebook Community

Sacred Medicine: Reclaiming Feminine Sexuality

Learn about the Laughing Goddess Referral Incentive. (message me for details)

#ImagineLivingMagic

laughinggoddess.com

Want a partner for the journey? Explore the Laughing Goddess Partnership Packages and receive a discount for purchasing this reading. Schedule a consult here for details.